

ALLOCATION OPTION GUIDE

Learn what's possible with Allianz Life Pro+ AdvantageSM
Fixed Index Universal Life Insurance Policy.

Give your FIUL more consistent potential – with a variety of allocation options.

Fixed index universal life (FIUL) insurance provides death benefit protection that is generally income-tax-free to beneficiaries, and the potential to build accumulation value tax-deferred that can be accessed through policy loans and withdrawals¹ for a variety of needs.

One benefit of an FIUL is the potential to earn interest based on one or more external market indexes in addition to a fixed interest allocation. But how much indexed interest you could receive will vary, depending on several factors – including the allocation option(s) you choose.

Allianz Life Insurance Company of North America (Allianz) offers a variety of allocation options to choose from within your FIUL – so you can choose one or several to help meet your goals.

AN ALLOCATION OPTION IS A COMBINATION OF:

- 1. an external market index, and
- 2. a crediting method

Although an external index may affect your interest credited, the policy does not directly participate in any equity or fixed income investments. You are not buying shares in an index.

¹ Policy loans and withdrawals will reduce the available cash value and death benefit and may cause the policy to lapse, or affect guarantees against lapse. Withdrawals in excess of premiums paid will be subject to ordinary income tax. Additional premium payments may be required to keep the policy in force. In the event of a lapse, outstanding policy loans in excess of unrecovered cost basis will be subject to ordinary income tax. If a policy is a modified endowment contract (MEC), policy loans and withdrawals will be taxable as ordinary income to the extent there are earnings in the policy. If any of these features are exercised prior to age 59½ on a MEC, a 10% federal additional tax may be imposed. Tax laws are subject to change and you should consult a tax professional.

Why is having an array of options important?

- Because allocation options can work differently in a variety of market conditions, our FIUL policies offer you several options to choose from, as well as the ability to change and diversify your allocations on an annual basis.
- Allianz offers an array of index choices that track changes in large-cap or small-cap equity markets, a mixture of domestic and international markets, and more.
- Allianz also offers a variety of crediting methods, allowing you to choose your preferred balance of interest potential and stability.
- Why is variety important? Because it provides you the flexibility to choose your path and pivot as your needs or the environment changes.
- You can choose one allocation option or diversify¹ among multiple allocation options in 1% increments. By diversifying the index exposure and crediting methods within your FIUL, it may help you reduce volatility and achieve a more consistent return.
- No matter which allocation options you choose, you cannot lose value due to negative index performance. Your principal and credited interest are locked in and protected during periods of index decline.

WHAT ADDITIONAL ADVANTAGES DOES ALLIANZ OFFER?

Annual reset

All Allianz FIULs offer an annual reset feature. This means you have the potential to build accumulation value every year the index increases – even if the index has not recovered from any previous policy year's losses.

In-house hedging

Our in-house hedging program saves on costs and expenses, and generates advantages that we can extend to our policyholders like you in the form of competitive caps and spreads.

¹ Diversifying allocations in a fixed index universal life insurance policy does not guarantee the policy will earn interest in any given year.

The indexes available within the policy are constructed to keep track of diverse segments of the U.S. or international markets, or specific market sectors. These indexes are benchmarks only. Indexes can have different constituents and weighting methodologies. Some indexes have multiple versions that can weight components or may track the impact of dividends differently. Although an index may affect your interest credited, you cannot buy, directly participate in, or receive dividend payments from any of them through the policy.

What are my Allianz Life Pro+ AdvantageSM Fixed Index Universal Life Insurance Policy allocation options?

Life Pro+ Advantage offers a variety of allocation options to choose from, giving you flexibility throughout the life of your policy.

When you purchase your FIUL, you can choose your allocation options. Then you have the flexibility to change your allocations each policy anniversary as your needs or the economic environment changes.

You can choose between index allocation options that offer a bonus each year and index allocation options that do not offer a bonus. For allocation options with a bonus, a guaranteed interest bonus will be credited beginning in policy year 1 and every policy year thereafter. Select index allocations include a 40% guaranteed interest rate bonus and 1% annual asset charge, Bonused index allocations include a 15% guaranteed interest rate bonus, and Standard index allocations do not include an interest bonus. This does not, however, guarantee a bonus credit each year because it is based on the growth of an index. Bonus products may include higher surrender charges, longer surrender periods, lower caps, or other restrictions that are not included in similar products that don't offer a bonus. The bonus credit is spread across all allocations.

Allocation changes must be received within 21 days after the policy anniversary to be in effect for the next contract year. When choosing your new allocation option percentages, you also have the ability to choose automatic rebalancing, meaning that we will rebalance your accumulation value automatically on each anniversary with your chosen allocation percentages for that year.

Bloomberg US Dynamic Balance II ER Index

- A U.S. balanced index
 - A managed volatility index that rebalances daily
 - The Bloomberg US Dynamic Balance II ER Index is comprised of the Bloomberg US Equity Custom Futures ER Index and the Bloomberg Barclays US Aggregate Custom RBI Unfunded Index and shifts weighting between them daily based on historical realized volatility. If volatility is high in both the equity and the bond component, the index may control volatility by decreasing the index weights so that they add up to less than 100%. The Bloomberg US Equity Custom Futures ER Index is a custom index that tracks futures on large-cap equities, similar to futures on the S&P 500 Index. The Bloomberg Barclays US Aggregate Custom RBI Unfunded Index is a custom index designed to track futures prices on the Bloomberg Barclays US Aggregate Bond Index – a well-established benchmark for the U.S. bond markets.
- The Bloomberg US Dynamic Balance II ER Index uses an excess return methodology by tracking the price of futures. Futures prices reflect the expected future price of an index and account for expected dividends. The excess return structure is designed to create a level of stability in your participation rate (for the associated crediting method) from year to year by mitigating the impact of short-term interest rates on renewal.

Bonus products may include higher surrender charges, longer surrender periods, lower caps, or other restrictions that are not included in similar products that don't offer a bonus. The index allocations that offer the interest bonus will generally have lower caps and participation rates. There is no guarantee that a policy will be credited with an interest bonus every year as it is based on the growth of an index. The interest bonus is equal to 15% of any indexed interest credited in that policy year.
